AB Commercial Inc completes Laboratory Investment Recovery resulting in over $30,000 to ALK Abello.

Philadelphia, PA, USA – AB Commercial Inc. (ABCSI), a leading national Investment Recovery and Liquidation firm, has just completed its fifth recovery project for its client ALK Abello in an ongoing partnership since October of last year.

So far, ABCSI has recovered over $30,000 for ALK, a pharmaceutical company focusing on allergy treatment, prevention and diagnosis. The scope of these recoveries included freeze dryers, lyophilize, centrifuges, safety cabinets, RSG air classifiers, Gerresheimer Kimble Vials and chemical dispensing systems.

Michael Lombardi, CEO of ABCSI, said, “After identifying the equipment in detail and completing an appraisal, we set up a process to identify the FMV and connected with our partners in the industry. This recovery was possible due to multiple sales methods including wholesale and end user orders.”

In response to their experience with ABCSI, Mike Sawatzky of ALK said, “I had contacted several vendors of used laboratory and production equipment from internet searches. Not one of these contacts expressed interest in marketing or purchasing our equipment. Fortunately, I received contact information for AB Commercial from our sister site in Spring Mills Pennsylvania and am very pleased with the results.”

AB Commercial Inc. maintains its headquarters in the greater Philadelphia area and has operations worldwide. They buy and sell used and surplus office equipment and furniture, medical and laboratory equipment, phones, computers, furniture, warehouse and more. ABCSI also provides services of liquidation, project management, recycling, relocation, facility closures and certified disposals/destructions.
